ABOUT FRANK HUERTA

Frank Huerta is a Latin American actor born and raised in NY by Cuban & Puerto Rican parents. His movie "Gazer" will debut at the Cannes Film Festival in the upcoming edition, marking the first international debut for the young actor.

Unable to resist his urge to perform, Frank also graduated from the William Esper Studio, NYC for acting. He went on to continue studying with acting coaches like Anthony Abeson NYC and John Rosenfeld, LA.

Some of his credits include hit TV shows like CBS's Blue Bloods or feature films like "Carrie Pilby". Frank brings his unique charm to all his roles. Off the stage, Frank can be found working out, writing, meditating, hiking, reading, or dancing & singing in his car while he is stuck in traffic (always on a mission to improve his singing skills).
